Welcome to the Governor's School for Agriculture

Dear Students, Parents, and Guardians:

Congratulations on your acceptance to the 2019 Governor's School for Agriculture Summer Residential program! Personnel from your local school divisions and the Virginia Department of Education have chosen the best and the brightest students across Virginia to participate in this program. It is my desire that this program would provide your child a wealth of academic information and opportunities for personal growth. I understand that you are entrusting your child to our care during the program and we at the Governor's School take this responsibility seriously. We want to provide a safe, supportive environment for your child to explore new ideas, problem solve, and think critically in the classroom and through activities. We also want to give your child the opportunity to interact with students from diverse backgrounds, and experience living in a college environment. I look forward to seeing your child grow through the Governor's School program.

Sincerely,

Dr. Curtis R. Friedel

Goals of the Governor's School for Agriculture

Goals of the GSA at Virginia Tech are to:

1. Provide a rigorous agricultural educational program that will challenge gifted and talented students to study and research the scientific nature of agriculture as it relates to and affects Virginia's largest industry, agriculture;
2. Provide structured educational discourse designed to increase the students' ability to critically think and solve problems associated with providing safe, economical, and aesthetically pleasing food, fiber, and shelter to the world's population;
3. Acquaint junior and senior students with scientific education and career opportunities available in agricultural and biological systems engineering, agricultural economics, animal science, plant science, and food science;
4. Promote an atmosphere of inquiry and dialogue, with an appreciation for multicultural diversity.

Governor's School for Agriculture Curriculum

The Governor's School curriculum is designed to develop an appreciation of the broad nature of agriculture and natural resource systems on a global level. Students will experience instruction and activities that provides exposure and insight into the real-world challenges involved in the feeding, clothing, and housing the world's population of over 7.4 billion people.

Students will be involved in a series of courses, career awareness activities, seminars, extracurricular activities, and a group project called Global Seminar. The courses consist of core classes, elective classes, and a course in a major assigned to each student. Courses include both classroom instruction and hands-on activities that take place in the lab and in the field.

As part of the registration process, each student will request a major area of interest. The school offers the follow majors:

- Agricultural & Biological Systems Engineering
- Agricultural Economics
- Animal Science
- Food Science
- Plant Science

While every effort is made to match students with their first major choice, it is not always mathematically possible. Students will be organized into groups of 20 based on their assigned major. These groups will be used for scheduling in-major classes, field trips, and Global Seminar.

Core Courses

Students attend core classes in all of the major areas (agricultural & biological systems engineering, agricultural economics, animal science, food science, and plant science) to gain a broader understanding of key elements within agriculture. While each core class focuses on one area within agriculture, key concepts and information will be applicable to other areas of agriculture.

Major Courses

During the final week of GSA, students will attend a four-day course that is specific to their major. The course is intended to give students the opportunity to learn more about an area they are interested in and prepare them to complete a group project in that area.

Elective Courses

Students will attend a variety of elective courses that will enhance their understanding of science in agriculture and develop leadership skills and personal awareness. These courses are intended to give students the opportunity to learn more about an area they might want to explore further.

Panel Discussions

Throughout the school, panel sessions with experts from academia and industry will feature the most-talked-about issues of today in agriculture — from GMOs and biosecurity, to government policy and future careers in agriculture.

Global Seminar

Students also take part in an experience called Global Seminar. The experience is designed to introduce students to issues and problems surrounding agriculture on a worldwide level. As part of the course, students will be assigned to a group of five members to complete a project. Groups will work together to research a single topic in agriculture and create the following items: (a) a 20-page scientific paper, (b) a 3-D printed design, (c) a research poster, (d) a brochure, and (e) a 10- to 15-minute illustrated oral presentation. Groups will meet together during the class, as well as on their own time to finish the project.

Symposium and Poster Session

At the conclusion of the Governor's School, a symposium will be held to showcase the student groups' projects. There will be a general poster session, as well as several concurrent sessions featuring student groups' presentations of their research. Along with their parents/guardians, students are encouraged to invite a high school teacher who has impacted them to campus to be guests at the symposium. The session will conclude with the Awards Banquet as a way to recognize the impact of teachers and parents on the life and work of the students, as well as to present the awards for outstanding presentation, paper, and poster.

Governor's School for Agriculture Faculty and Staff

A broad and diverse group of Virginia Tech faculty and staff are involved in the planning and delivery of the Governor's School for Agriculture. During the Governor's School, the students will have the opportunity to interact with many of these individuals. Below is a description of several of people you will meet, as well as their roles with Governor's School.

Director

The Director, Dr. Curt Friedel, serves as the administrator of the Governor's School for Agriculture. All issues affecting the quality of the program, personnel, instructional faculty, and students' wellbeing should be brought to the attention of the Director.

On-site Director

The On-site Director, Brittany Hoover, is available to students at all times and lives in the dormitory throughout the school. The role of the On-site Director is to provide guidance concerning day-to-day issues, such as supervising staff, transportation, and ensuring the school runs smoothly.

Instructional Faculty

Students will often interact with the faculty members that are teaching courses in the school. The faculty members are faculty from Virginia Tech and the Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine. These faculty members are selected for their participation in the school based on their research and academic specialty, as well as a history of positive teaching evaluations.

Governor's School Leaders (GSLs)

Governor's School Leaders are assigned to work with students in each of the majors. These leaders are undergraduates or graduate students with expertise in a particular major area. They team up in groups of two or more to provide instruction, mentorship, and assistance.

They will attend the courses with the students, as well as accompanying them on fieldtrips and activities. Leaders are selected to participate in the school because of their academic ability, enthusiasm, and leadership. Many are former Governor's School participants.

Security

Virginia Tech police have general responsibility for dormitory security and make routine, unscheduled visits around and throughout the public portion of all dorms. The campus of Virginia Tech is very safe; however, to reduce the chance of theft within the dorms, students need to keep their doors locked to protect their personal valuables. Objects susceptible to theft include laptops, iPods, or other easily portable or expensive items. The Governor's School for Agriculture is not responsible for lost or stolen items.

Computer Requirements

Students are required to bring a laptop computer to the Governor's School to complete assignments requiring basic word processing, spreadsheet calculations, and online research. Virginia Tech supports both Mac and PC computers. Also, please note the following:

- There is wifi across campus, including in dorm rooms.

Student Email Accounts

Students receive Virginia Tech email accounts for use while they are attending the Governor's School. These accounts will become active the first day of the school and will be available until the last day of the school.

These email accounts can be used for educational and personal uses. Instructors may contact students regarding course information via email. Students also interact with other members of their group through email. Therefore, students should check their emails on a daily basis. Students are also encouraged to use this email to contact friends or family.

Students will receive instructions concerning setting up their email account and how to gain access to the account. ## Virginia Tech Principles of Community

All GSA participants are to adhere to Virginia Tech's Principles of Community in all aspects of the program.

Virginia Tech is a public land-grant university, committed to teaching and learning, research, and outreach to the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world community. Learning from the experiences that shape Virginia Tech as an institution, we acknowledge those aspects of our legacy that reflected bias and exclusion. Therefore, we adopt and practice the following principles as fundamental to our on-going efforts to increase access and inclusion and to create a community that nurtures learning and growth for all of its members:

We affirm the inherent dignity and value of every person and strive to maintain a climate for work and learning based on mutual respect and understanding.

We affirm the right of each person to express thoughts and opinions freely. We encourage open expression within a climate of civility, sensitivity, and mutual respect.

We affirm the value of human diversity because it enriches our lives and the University. We acknowledge and respect our differences while affirming our common humanity.

We reject all forms of prejudice and discrimination, including those based on age, color, disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, and veteran status. We take individual and collective responsibility for helping to eliminate bias and discrimination and for increasing our own understanding of these issues through education, training, and interaction with others.

We pledge our collective commitment to these principles in the spirit of the Virginia Tech motto of Ut Prosim (That I May Serve).

Medical Protocol

Virginia Tech maintains a student clinic that is staffed by medical professionals. Medical needs exceeding the capability of the clinic personnel will be referred to the Montgomery Regional Medical Hospital, which is a modern, comprehensive medical facility, located less than five miles from campus. If students need to visit the clinic or hospital, a staff member will accompany them. There are forms included on the Governor's School website for parents/guardians to sign to allow their child to obtain emergency treatment until the parents/guardians are contacted. The web site for Virginia Tech Health Services is: <http://www.healthcenter.vt.edu/>.

The Governor's School carries an accident and sickness insurance policy that may cover a small amount of the initial cost of any medical event that occurs with the students during the Governor's School. If the cost of treatment exceeds the maximum coverage, the parent/legal guardian will be billed directly and will be responsible for the remainder. Pre-existing conditions are not covered under the Governor's School's policy. Parents and guardian must disclose all medical information for the safety of their child.

Many insurance providers require a referral in order to authorize payment for medical care. If the parents/guardians' insurance provider requires a referral they will need to make the necessary arrangements with their primary care physician. Some medically related expenses and medications are not covered by insurance (e.g. co-payments for a physician's visit, replacing eyeglasses/contacts, orthodontic repair, prescriptions). Parents/Guardians should discuss how to cover these unpredictable expenses with their child.

Special Needs and Diets

The Governor's School intends to create an inclusive and welcoming community for all students. Reasonable accommodations will be provided for any student with special needs or circumstances. On the Governor's School web site (<https://www.alce.vt.edu/signature-programs/governors-ag-school.html>), the Student Information Sheet has a section for parents/guardians to complete detailing any special needs of their child. Included on the form is room for any details about special dietary needs as well.

Worship Services

If students are interested in attending religious services during their stay at the school, they can complete the appropriate registration form. Students will need to contact the GSA office if arrangements need to be made for transportation. The State of Virginia regulations prohibit the Governor's School from using state vehicles to transport students to and from religious services. Students will be escorted by a GSA staff member to off-campus services within walking distance. Below is a list of some religious denominations available around the campus area. If students do not see the denomination of their choice, they can visit <http://www.bev.net/organizations/index.php> or contact the GSA office and a staff member will assist them in finding the appropriate phone number.
